

A BUSY WEEK

In Politics Begins to-day—Many Republican Meetings

ARE TO BE HELD IN OHIO COUNTY.

THE ELKINS-WEEMS MEETING
WILL BE HELD FRIDAY EVENING
AT PYTHIAN CASTLE,
SOUTH SIDE—DECLARATIONS
MADE BY THE LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES OF BOTH PARTIES—DOVENER AND BLAIR IN BENWOOD THE SAME EVENING.

This is to be a very busy week in politics, especially on the Republican side of the fence. The county and congressional committees have arranged for meetings every night of the week, the most important of course being that of Friday evening at the Pythian Castle, South Side, at which Senator Elkins and Hon. C. L. Weems will be the principal speakers. The itinerary for the week is given in this column.

Although the Democratic congressional candidate, "Jack" Blair, has declined to meet Captain Dovener in joint debate, the Intelligencer respectfully submits to Chairman Post, of the Democratic committee, that he is now presented with an opportunity to swing over his candidate from the defensive attitude in which he has been into one that may at least show to the Democratic rank and file that they are not handicapped with a man who cannot take care of himself in public discussion. It is just this way; both Mr. Blair and Captain Dovener are scheduled to speak in Benwood next Saturday night, and it would please the means of defining the issues and the position each party takes if it can be arranged for the two candidates to speak from the same platform. The Intelligencer has not been assured that Captain Dovener will accept of this arrangement, but his action in recently challenging Mr. Blair makes a joint discussion at Benwood entirely consistent on his part. Now, if Chairman Post will give his candidate a prod in the back, and the Register will tell about that "bluff" of Captain Dovener's which doesn't happen to be a bluff, it may be possible to bring Mr. Blair and Captain Dovener together at Benwood. Captain Dovener, the Intelligencer knows, is willing—but how about Blair? Perhaps the esteemed Register can give the public some information along this line.

THE WEEK'S SPEAKING.

Beginning to-night and continuing every day this week, there will be Republican meetings in this county. There are two scheduled for to-night. At Monmouth hall, South Side, Senator N. E. Whitaker and Hon. Harvey W. Harmer, of Clarksburg, will speak, and at Turner hall, North End, Hon. M. H. Willis and Hon. F. W. Nesbitt will make addresses. The itinerary for the remainder of the week is as follows, including the big Elkins meeting of Friday night:

Tuesday night, October 25, at Bearley's hall, 131 Eighteenth street, Hon. Harvey W. Harmer and Senator N. E. Whitaker.
Tuesday night, October 25, at Marshall's hall, Fulton, Hon. M. H. Willis and Frank W. Nesbitt.
Wednesday night, October 26, at Pythian Castle, corner Twenty-seventh and Chapline streets, Hon. Harvey W. Harmer, M. H. Willis and N. E. Whitaker.
Thursday night, October 27, at Selbert's Garden, Hon. M. H. Willis and John Arbens, Jr.
Friday night, October 28, at Pythian Castle, corner Twenty-seventh and Chapline streets, Hon. Stephen B. Elkins and C. L. Weems.
Saturday night, October 29, at Hand's Hall, Elm Grove, Hon. C. L. Weems and Frank W. Nesbitt.

ALL BUT BAIRD RESPONDED.

A short time since, the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly sent queries to the ten legislative candidates of the two parties in this county, as to their positions on certain questions in which the labor body is interested. All but one candidate responded, the exception being Mr. James Baird, one of the Democratic candidates for house of delegates. Senator Whitaker's response is given in full below:

WHEELING, Oct. 18, 1898.
Thomas V. Salisbury, esq., Secretary
Ohio Valley Trades & Labor Assembly.

MY DEAR SIR:—Absence from the city delayed the receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., until my return yesterday. I am pleased to receive your communication and take pleasure in replying which I will do with entire candor and sincerity, regretting, however, that my expressions are limited on the eve of an election and on that account liable to be suspected as influenced by personal interest, and in anticipation I desire to add the assurance that my sentiments have always been as I now express them.

Responding to the appended slip to your letter and the interrogatories contained, I beg to reply as follows:

To section 5—"Equal pay for equal service for men and women in state issues"—I have always held that for equal service in all conditions there should be equal pay without discrimination as to sex.

To section 1—"Sanitary inspection of mines, factories, dwellings, and conditions of labor"—No fair minded, sensible, and humane individual can refuse to recognize the great necessity of proper sanitary regulations and that such should be so framed as to require compliance by both employer and employee.

To section 3—"Prohibition of child labor under sixteen years"—Upon this question there would likely be found a very wide difference in views and from all conditions of life and society. Personally, I regard child labor as very reprehensible and permit me to oppose to our national principles and degraded policies of some European countries; the child should be placed beyond such destructive influences, should be given the advantages of our magnificent school system, and might, perhaps should, be under the control of some sort of compulsory school statute, but in that as in the limit of years, there would be found much difficulty in reconciling the age to the conditions of life and the necessities of the home, for in very many instances the labor of the youth is indispensable to the support of the family and I am inclined to the opinion there would be much hardship following a limit greater than fourteen years; nevertheless, believe there should be a proper and reasonable limit.

To section 5—"Payment of wages weekly and equal pay for women, etc." To the latter I have already replied, and upon the payment of wages beg to say that as "circumstances alter cases," there would likely follow much confusion in many instances from inflexible laws on this question. The wage earner should have his wages without let or hindrance and should have the fullest protection and receive his compensation without discount or delay, and with the impression that we have some statute on the subject providing for what is generally called "two weeks' pay." I am rather inclined to the opinion that there would be worked no small amount of hardship in many cases where limited capital was had, affecting the employed, as well as the employer; if an arbitrary law fixed a weekly pay.

To section 2—"A fair day's wages for a fair day's work." I most emphatically answer yes, for no greater principle of justice can exist and upon this I believe all fair men agree.

To section 5—"Fair and gentlemanly treatment" is reciprocal and should be made so and be maintained between employer and employee, for what greater pleasure can there be than to find in mutual confidence and respect that finds expression in fairness and courteous treatment from and between all.

To section 6, your last, I am very sure you will agree with me that no greater question presents itself to us than the amelioration of the conditions of the working classes; whatever tends to ameliorate tends to educate and elevate—education and elevation advance all classes, make better citizens, a more contented and a happier people and under our liberal form of government, a greater, a stronger, and a more magnificent country, governed by the masses intelligently and by its example setting the pace for all the world, for recent events have attended with great loss of life and much suffering have placed us in the front rank of nations, second to none in resources, strength and patriotism and leaves us commanding the respect and admiration of all the world, get ours is a government of the people by the people, in which the wage earner is no small factor and his amelioration and advancement brings with it a safer and more intelligent judgment and a stronger sense of justice upon all questions.

"I have endeavored to answer your inquiries fully and frankly, not especially to cultivate your approval and invite your political support, which, however, to whatever extent it may be extended will be highly appreciated, but because I have always held rather pronounced views on the subjects referred to and endeavored to live to and by them, and am always glad to express them. And in my past political experience it has been a source of great gratification that I have found in the manifestation of confidence and good will from the "wage earner."

Begging pardon for the length to which I have gone,

I am very respectfully yours,
N. E. WHITAKER.

The gist of the responses by the other Republican candidates follows:
Harry W. McLeure—The principles you mention have my most hearty endorsement.

H. F. Behrens—The articles referred to shall have my careful attention, and my interests at all times are the interests of the people in any question at issue.
Ben. W. Connelly—As one of the class your body represents, I favor anything for the betterment of the laboring class. In relation to child labor I would insert fourteen years instead of sixteen years, but I would not allow a boy to be put to a trade until he was seventeen years old. As to payment of wages weekly, it would be impossible in some respects; that question should be settled by labor itself, as I do not think a law passed would stand in our present courts. As to my connection with labor I refer you to my fellow workmen. You have my record as a member of your city council.

Ralph McCoy—I am heartily in accord with the different principles set forth, believing that if they were enforced they would be for the betterment not only for the working classes, but for the good of all. I will be pleased to support such measures as would elevate and better the conditions of the laboring class.

In effect the Democratic candidates replied as follows:
John Waterhouse—I am and always have been in favor of the measures you present. If elected, will give them my hearty support.

Burke Watson—The principles meet with my approval. I will promise my support to vote toward such measures.
J. R. Hissom—I endorse each and every clause, except section three. In the vacations children might work at light labor.

Joseph Handlan—They (the principles submitted) are largely an expression of what I think and believe.
James Baird—Did not respond.

DOVENER AT MANNINGTON.

Congressman Dovener addressed a good meeting at Mannington, in the opera house, Saturday night. The attendance was large, notwithstanding the weather. The captain's address was punctuated with frequent applause. At the close of Captain Dovener's speech, a sailor who served with "Bob" Evans on the Iowa before Santiago, was called upon, and made a rattling fifteen minute talk that captured the house.

AT MIDDLEBOURNE TO-DAY.

This afternoon, at Middlebourne, the county seat of Tyler, the big meeting of the campaign will be held. The principal speakers are Senator Elkins and Captain Dovener.

THOMAS FOX, SR., DEAD.

Succumbed to Paralysis and Complication of Diseases.

This morning, at 1 o'clock, occurred the death of Mr. Thomas Fox, sr., at the family home, on the South Side, after an illness that began six months ago, when he was attacked by paralysis. Since then a complication of diseases has followed, and on account of the deceased's advanced age, seventy-five years, little hope of his recovery was entertained. Mr. Fox was a native of Ireland, and came to America more than half a century ago. For many years he has lived in Wheeling, and was a dry goods and grocery merchant. Of an amiable disposition, he continued in business until the end of his life. He leaves four sons, Michael, Thomas, Jr., Frank, Charles, and a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Fox. The funeral arrangements had not been made this morning.

Another Good Well.

The F. N. Barnsdall No. 1 Campbell well, three miles southeast of Rutherford, came in Friday evening and is making ten barrels an hour from the salt sand.

This well is a short distance west of the A. Wright well that came in a week ago a fifty barrel a day producer.

There are three conditions:
When the blood is poor;
When more flesh is needed;
When there is weakness of the throat or lungs.

There is one cure: that is Scott's Emulsion.

It contains the best cod-liver oil emulsified, or digested, and combined with the hypophosphites and glycerine. It promises more prompt relief and more lasting benefit in these cases than can be obtained from the use of any other remedy.

WITHOUT COMMENT.

None is needed in presenting the Refutation by Corporal Stilwell in Answer to Malicious and Partisan Attacks by the Register.

In presenting the following refutation of charges made by the Register, and other papers for selfish political purposes, it is not necessary to add one word of comment to what Corporal Stilwell, of the First West Virginia Volunteers, has to say:

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 22.
To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR:—In an editorial in the Wheeling Register of October 20 the editor does the volunteer soldiers now in the field great injustice when he says that the government is afraid to discharge the soldiers, grant them furloughs or allow them to go to their homes and talk to the people about their camp life before the coming election. IF THIS EDITOR OF THE REGISTER IMAGINES THAT THE VOLUNTEER ARMY IS MADE UP OF WHINING FAULT FINDERS HE IS MISTAKEN. The great mass of the volunteers knew when they enlisted that they were not going to a picnic. They knew that privations and hardships are the lot of all soldiers, and the hardships and privations undergone by the soldiers of the present war have not been any greater than they anticipated. There are grumblers and fault finders in every regiment, but they are not the class of men that the government or the communities from which they went have any cause to be proud of.

I enlisted in Company M, First West Virginia Volunteers, at the first call for troops, but was rejected on account of my weight, having been sick for some time previous to my examination, but before the regiment left the Kanawha Valley I gained in weight and was lucky enough to pass the examination, and was mustered into Company G, of the regiment, and I have been on duty with the regiment at Chickamauga and Knoxville up to about four weeks ago, at which time I took the typhoid fever, and was sent to the division hospital. I am now at home on a thirty-days' furlough, and I want to say to the friends of the boys who are now in the First that WE HAVE BEEN AS WELL FED AND CLOTHED AS ANY ARMY THAT I HAVE EVER HEARD OF READ OF. It is true that on a few occasions we missed a ration of beef because a consignment would be bad, and would have to be condemned, but when we did not have beef we had bacon. On a few occasions we were short on potatoes, because of consignments being rotten and condemned, but as a rule we had plenty of good bread, beef, bacon, coffee, sugar, beans, potatoes and rice, with fish and canned goods for a change.

Our boys have been well cared for and well treated, and the health of the boys at Chickamauga, about which so much has been written, was good for the first three months that we were there. It is true that on account of the great number of troops camped there that the grounds naturally became filthy, and fever became epidemic. I can't think that in particular was to be blamed for that, for we were expecting to be moved to the front for active service every day. When I left camp the boys had plenty to eat, good clothes, good tents, with good floors in them, and the health of the regiment is getting back to what it was before the typhoid fever epidemic began.

I want to say one word about my treatment while in hospital. If I had been at home I could not have received better treatment. We had the best of medical treatment, plenty of physicians, who were at all times kind and attentive, plenty of good and attentive nurses, who looked after us carefully, all the delicacies that one could wish for, nice clean beds and everything that any reasonable man could desire.

In conclusion I want to say that we got the newspapers in the army, and THE BOYS READ AND LAUGH OVER THE HEARTRENDING ACCOUNTS THAT THE NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS WRITE ABOUT OUR TERRIBLE SUFFERINGS AND PRIVATIONS, AND THE CRUEL MANNER IN WHICH WE ARE BEING TREATED.

Do you know how the great mass of the soldiers actually feel? I will tell you.

THEY FEEL PROUD THAT THEY BELONG TO ONE OF THE BEST ARMIES THE WORLD EVER SAW, AND THEY ARE PROUD THAT THEY ARE AMERICAN SOLDIERS. THEY ARE PROUD OF THEIR GOVERNMENT, AND ARE LOYAL TO THEIR OFFICERS, AND ARE READY TO FOLLOW "OLD GLORY" WHEREVER THE POWERS THAT BE MAY ORDER THEM TO GO.

WILLIAM L. STILWELL,
Corporal, Company G, First West Virginia Volunteer Infantry.

THE REFORMATION.

Second Production in Wheeling of the Story of the Luther Reformation Opens To-night.

All that is promised the public in the celebrated "Story of the Reformation," or "Life of Luther," to be presented at the Opera House to-night and to-morrow nights, will be fully realized. The extensive preparations are about completed, and taking the rehearsal as a criterion an excellent entertainment is in store. While a good entertainment is expected, the excellency and completeness of the programme must be witnessed before it can be fully appreciated.

The rehearsals show that the stage groupings will present a most attractive and effective picture. Mrs. Monroe's literary genius and culture expresses itself in selecting the most thrilling episodes in the dramatic condensation of history and biography for her production, and also in vividly impressing the same upon thousands of people by her own original literary direction. Although she takes animation for the representations, the entertainment moves with unintermitted promptitude. Mrs. Monroe is a grand and noble instructor of public benefit. The production is an opportunity to gather the greatest amount of history in the most condensed form, accompanied by illustrations the most forcible.

The production is well worthy of patronage, not only as an aid to the English Lutheran church, but for its value to an individual from an educational standpoint. A few seats can still be secured on the lower floor for both evenings. Owing to the large demand for seats, several rows will be reserved in the gallery. The sale of gallery seats opens at 8 a. m. this morning, at Danmer's music store. The enterprise begins promptly at 8 p. m. Two large houses are predicted.

FOREFATHERS' DAY

Observed Yesterday Morning and Evening at the First Christian Church—Other Church Services on Sunday.

"Forefathers' Day" an occasion honored annually by the Christian church, was given due observance by the congregation of the First Christian church yesterday, especially at the evening service, which were in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society. An appropriate programme was excellently rendered, to a large and deeply interested congregation.

Papers were read by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Oliphant, Mr. Homer Simmons and Miss Maude Jones, which dealt with the founders of the church, the history of the denomination, its growth and other interesting and instructive features. Mr. Simmons' paper dealt with Alexander Campbell, the founder of Bethany College, and the leading spirit in the organization of the Disciples of Christ, or as it is better known now, the Christian church.

Rev. Mr. Oliphant said that the purpose of "Forefathers' Day" was to make the young people among the Disciples of Christ familiar with the aims and the achievements of the pioneers of the church. During his remarks, Mr. Oliphant quoted statistics to show the marvelous growth of the church in twenty-five years. At the close of 1877 the church numbered 1,060,613 members, with 6,224 ministers.

As to the comparative increase of membership, Rev. Mr. Oliphant quoted the following figures from the New York Independent, which show that the Christian church, in the years included from 1880 to 1887, has enjoyed a great increase: Methodist Episcopal, 7.1-3 per cent; Presbyterian, 10.4 per cent; Congregational, 13 per cent; Baptists, 13 per cent; Episcopalians, 11 per cent; Christian, 38 per cent. Rev. Mr. Oliphant claimed that the study of the Bible was followed more closely in his church.

The King's Daughters.

At St. Matthews' P. E. church yesterday morning, a large congregation attended the anniversary celebration held by the King's Daughters of St. Matthews, and the services were very impressive. The rector, Rev. N. S. Thomas, delivered an appropriate and forceful address, and the music was excellent. The collection taken for the benefit of the Day Nursery amounted to $40. During the past year, there occurred the death of Mrs. S. P. Norton, one of the King's Daughters, and touching references to her noble life were made. St. Matthews' circle was organized over ten years ago.

Dr. White at Y. M. C. A.

Rev. W. P. White, D. D., of Philadelphia, financial secretary of the Lincoln University, which is located in Chester, county, Pa., spoke at the Y. M. C. A. meeting yesterday afternoon to a good-sized audience. He urged young men to put faith in God, just as they believe and trust in friends on this earth. Dr. White, who is also editor of the Presbyterian Journal, is attending the synod at Painesville, in the interests of Lincoln University, which is a school for colored young men.

A RELIGIOUS REVIVAL.

Yesterday, at the Macedonia church, colored, a fifteen-day series of meetings was opened by Rev. W. J. Coleman, of Richmond, with a large congregation, and much interest and enthusiasm was shown. Several local ministers will assist this week, as follows: Tuesday evening, Rev. G. H. Wilson, of Martin's Ferry; Wednesday, Rev. Breckinridge, of Bridgeport; Thursday, Rev. J. W. Waters, of Simpson M. E. church; Friday, Rev. Burmy, of A. M. E. church.

ELECTRICITY TO BURN

Last night, about 9 o'clock, one of the incandescent electric lighting wires at the corner of Twenty-fourth and Chapline streets, South Side, fell, and upon striking the feed wire of the Wheeling Railway Company, both came to the ground. At the time the accident occurred Druggist Will Irwin was turning off an electric light in his store, and was severely shocked and his hand burned. The gauze around the lamp fixture was set on fire, too, but was speedily extinguished without much damage. For over an hour it was necessary to have men on guard in the street to keep pedestrians and others from coming in contact with the live wires on the ground. Traffic on the line, of course, was stopped.

Edwards Challenges Johnston.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 23.—Hon. William Seymour Edwards, the Republican candidate for Congress, has issued a challenge to Judge Johnston, the Democratic candidate, for a series of joint debates. Mr. Edwards says he will meet the judge anywhere, at any time convenient. The two met at Clay House, some few weeks ago, and ever since the judge has had business elsewhere when Mr. Edwards is around.

Avoid Discouragement.

The sufferer from chronic disease of the abdomen hopes and becomes miserably despairing. There is no need of doing so, for there is hardly a complaint that cannot be cured by some of the remedies. Dr. Greene, 35 body of some remedy, at Fourteenth Street, New York City, the famous specialist and undoubtedly the most successful doctor in curing disease, can point to thousands of cases which had grown hopeless but which were by his treatment restored to full health, vigor and vitality. You can consult Dr. Greene by letter, free of charge, and he will be glad to write to the doctor and be cured and made happy. Dr. Greene is the discoverer of that greatest of medicines, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.
